Camper, Recreation & Nature Programs

Nature interpretive programs are offered from late June until Labor Day. A wide variety of family-oriented guided hikes and tours are available daily. Some of the most popular programs include salamanders, stream safari, edible wild plants, tours of beaver colonies, Thunder Rocks, and Bear Caves. The junior naturalist program, for kids 5-15, is also a camper favorite. Allegany State Park offers a variety of recreation programs including a 10-week summer music series featuring local musicians at different locations including the Quaker Amphitheater, which is the site of the weekly Hootenanny sing-a-long concert. Allegany staff organizes events to make your stay enjoyable and informative. Check the park facebook page for special events held throughout the year..

Recreation Areas and Trails

Allegany State Park offers excellent facilities for summer and winter recreation. Guarded beach facilities are available at both Red House and Quaker Lake recreation areas. There are ball fields, tennis courts, picnic areas, snack bars, restaurant and playgrounds. The Red House Area has 5.6 miles of paved bikeways around Red House Lake that access the cabin trails and the tent & trailer area. The Park offers 95 miles of hiking on 18 hiking trails. More than 24 miles of cross-country ski trails which double as hiking & mountain biking trails in the summer begin at the Art Roscoe Ski Touring Area (Red House Area). Horseback riding trails give way to snowmobile trails in the winter. Horse trails are open only from May 15 through Oct. 31 each year. Snowmobilers must have a valid NYS registration and a park permit to ride the designated trails in the park.

The Red House Wetland Interpretive trail brings visitors right into the heart of a diverse and constantly-changing scrub-shrub wetland located near Red House Lake. With ADA-compliant boardwalks and crushed stone trails, this overlooked and all but impassable wetland habitat has become a popular destination accessible to all. A large observation deck, wildlife blind, and earthen viewing mound frame beautiful landscape views and offer an up-close look at the plants and animals inhabiting this essential ecosystem. The visitor experience is enhanced by a year-round schedule of educational programs and a collection of interpretive features that emphasize important aspects of wetland biodiversity, ecosystem benefits, stewardship values, and more. All are welcome to visit Red House Wetland and experience a landscape that can change practically overnight..you never know what you'll see.

Special Activities and Events

Many special events take place throughout the year. In winter there are cross-country ski races. Geocaching fanatics can attend the ASP Geobash weekend held in May (www.aspegeobash.com). Bird and nature enthusiasts gather the first weekend in June after Memorial Day for the Allegany Nature Pilgrimage (www.allegany-nature-pilgrimage.org). Mountain bikers may want to join Allegany State Park and Western New York Bicycling Assn. For the Annual Raccoon Rally Mountain Bike Festival and Race usually held in June. (www.heartrateup.com). In July Allegany State Park hosts special concerts, fireworks and displays to provide a family beach party held every August which features live music, crafts and more! Late Sept., Allegany participates in National Public Lands Day, which is the Na-

A Brief History of Allegany State Park

One of the greatest four-season recreational assets in Western New York is Allegany State Park. Authorized by an act of the legislature on May 2, 1921, the first purchase of land was made on June 18, 1921. This parcel contained seven thousand acres in the Quaker Run Valley, including the building of a saw mill camp. The original land purchase was for $50,000, with half of the cost being raised locally. The park was formally dedicated on July 30, 1921. Gov. Miller appointed a five-member commission headed by Senator Albert T. Fancher to develop a vast park eventually encompassing today's 65,000 acres. Land acquisition continues to this day under the original authorization that began in 1921.

Until 1925 when the first permanent cabins were built, campers used World War I surplus tents on wooden platforms. A converted schoolhouse in the Quaker Area served as the first park administration building. The first State Park Bond Issue in 1924 provided funding for the initial development of the Red House Area including the administration building and the dam that created Red House Lake.

The construction of Science Lake in 1926 offered the first area for swimming in the park. Adjoining the lake was the Allegany School of Natural History, a group of 47 cabins, a main building housing library, assembly room and science laboratories. Between 1933 and 1942, the Civilian Conservation Corps built roads, bridges, picnic and camping areas. They were responsible for numerous conservation projects from reforestation to stream bank retention and wildlife improvements.

Today, Allegany State Park continues to offer visitors opportunities for recreation, camping, and outdoor activities first envisioned by those who worked so hard to preserve this land for future generations.

Camping Facilities The three campgrounds in Allegany State Park (Red House Tent and Trailer, Cain Hollow and Diehl Trail), offer a total of 315 campsites, many equipped with electrical hookups. There are 28 cabin trails with more than 360 total cabins of varying amenities, with over 150 cabins winterized for year-round camping. The park also offers group camps for large parties and 53 fully-furnished cottages for rental. Contact the park rental offices for camping and reservation information.

Museums: A natural history museum featuring Allegany State Park's wildlife is housed in the Administration Building in the Red House Area. The Old Quaker Store Museum chronicles the development of the Park through interactive exhibits.

tion's largest hands-on volunteer effort to improve and enhance the public lands Allegany's visitors enjoy.

For the latest news, notice, times and dates of activities, visit the official Allegany State Park facebook page at www.facebook.com/alleganystatepark.

Hunting and Fishing

Deer and small game hunting is permitted in designated areas of Allegany State Park. The park has a variety of wildlife habitats, including northern hardwood forest, mixed oak, hardwoods, and old field environments with some small wetland areas. A NYS hunting license and a park permit are required for hunting in the park. The park also offers fishing opportunities in a number of streams, ponds, and lakes. A NYS fishing license is required to fish in the park, with some special regulations apply to limits, baits, and areas that can be fished. Fishing is permitted year-round on the Red House and Quaker Lakes. Hunting licenses are available for purchase at Red House Rental Office.

The Red House Area is known for the historic Tudor-style Administration Building overlooking Red House Lake. Red House offers paved bike paths, tennis and volleyball courts, picnic areas, boat rentals, bird watching, mountain biking, cross-country skiing and snowmobiling. The Administration Building features a natural history museum, regional headquarters, and a restaurant and gift shop. Thunder Rocks is an impressive bedrock city that allows for the avid nature lover to see the hidden beauty that this park is known for. Be sure to visit the many beaver ponds which are wonderful areas to observe the diversity of wildlife located within the park. The Stone Tower structure and fully-restored Fire Tower, located at the Summit area, allow visitors to observe a vista of the rolling hills of mature forest of the Allegany Plateau.

The Quaker Area is known for its two lakes and wonderful camping experiences. The many hiking trails in Quaker Area give opportunities to explore rock formations such as the Bear Caves, and diversity of plants and wildlife. Many come to relax with the programs offered at the Quaker Amphitheater, picnicking or just letting the children spend time at the playground or in the creeks. The Old Quaker Store has been completely restored and now houses a park museum. Interesting exhibits document the history of Allegany State Park as "The Wilderness Playground of Western New York," and orient visitors to the Park's unique features and attractions...both past and present. If you enjoy sports, you can use the horseshoe pits, baseball fields, basketball, tennis court, and volleyball. Friend's Boat Launch makes the Allegheny Reservoir available to boating enthusiasts.
